Electric City Sparklets

Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wireless On the Streets of Anderson.

The teachers examination which took place in Anderson yesterday, brought school teachers and would-be school teachers from all parts of the county. The examination was held in the new graded school building by J. H. Felton, superintendent of education for Anderson county. There were 14 applicants for teachers' licenses all told, 13 white people and one negro. The superintendent will grade the papers and make the announcements as to the licenses within the next few weeks.

Miss Aileen Heron, teacher of the New Hebron school, was in the city yesterday. Miss Heron is accomplishing much with her school and the pupils are progressing in a manner most gratifying to the patrons of the institution.

Brian Bell, news editor of the Columbia State, has been in Anderson for the meeting of the Commercial Secretaries. Mr. Bell returned to Columbia last night.

Ross Mitchell, mayor of Belton, was among the visitors to the city yesterday. Mr. Mitchell says that "Bustling Belton is Booming" more and more every day.

The quarters on Main street now occupied by the Elite cafe will be vacated by that establishment tomorrow and a moving picture show placed therein. The new show will not be able to open, according to the promoters, until between Feb. 1 and 10, since there is a great deal of decorating and other work to be done. It is one of the handsomest places of this kind in the city when completed.

Harold Booker, the well known editor of the Greenville Daily Piedmont, was in Anderson last night for a few hours. Mr. Booker says that Anderson compares favorably with Greenville in every respect and actually excels in some few particulars. He is a strong believer in "My Town" and her future.

Without exception every commercial secretary in Anderson for the annual convention was loud in his praises of the Electric City and the hospitality shown the body. All of the secretaries said that they were well pleased with the place that they were willing to say "Anderson is My Town."

J. T. Cox, a well known citizen of Belton township, was among the visitors to the city yesterday.

LEGISLATURE AFTERMATH

(Special Correspondence) Columbia, Jan. 17.—What is probably a record for work has been accomplished by the first week of the General Assembly for 1914. The week has been featured by an entire absence of any partisan politics and as a result headway has been made in constructive measures.

With the judges election out of the way the General Assembly will begin the final disposition of the remaining vacancies to be filled on Tuesday night. The greatest interest, probably, is in the race for State Librarian. Over a score of young ladies are offering for the position and the rivalry between them is keen. There is little prospect of any choice being made in this office in three ballots, which is all the joint assembly will take on any one position any one day.

Insurance Commissioner F. H. McMaster is opposed for re-election by W. A. Hudson, of Homes Park, and Elliott Capers, of Summerton. W. H. Glenn and W. H. Canfield, both of Anderson county, and A. R. Hawkins, of Prosperity, in Newberry county, are candidates for the two positions on the Board of directors of the State penitentiary.

There are several candidates for the position to be filled on the board of trustees of Clemson, Withrop, the University State Medical college, and other places. The General Assembly hopes to finish all of the elections during the coming week and will meet from day to day until this is done. The flood of bills began on Wednesday and continue unabated. Senator Carlisle, of Spartanburg, seems to hold the record as a bill introducer in the upper branch.

Politics is expected to begin when the Nicholson bill tightening up the primary regulations comes up for action. This bill stands at the head of the third reading bills in the Senate and the Edgeland Senator has indicated his intention of pushing it to a passage. There are probably a dozen other proposed measures which will be offered by various members, all seeking to regulate and tighten up the laws governing primary elections. Among measures on the House side which will be offered along primary reform is the bill of Representative Hutcheson, which is very lengthy and goes emphatically into the subject.

Governor Blaise recommended in his message that the primary be let alone and said all that was needed was enforcement of the laws already on the statute books. He will undoubtedly be surprised by his husband and eight children.

two-thirds majority in both branches in favor of the matter nothing will be done.

Many are predicting that Governor Blaise and the General Assembly will lock horns over this very matter. Others assert that they believe this session will be devoid of any fighting between the legislative and executive branches, such as have characterized in part two meetings of the General Assembly.

The Senate meets again Tuesday night at 7:50 o'clock and the House on Tuesday at noon. Monday is a legal holiday being the birthday of General Robert E. Lee.

The hearing on the child labor bill takes place Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, and the hearing on the Charleston Commission form of government will be held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock before the House committee on privileges and elections. The bill is in charge of Representative N. B. Barwell, of the Charleston delegation. A hot fight is promised at the hearing.

W. F. C. DEATH OF MISS HANNIA BARKLEY. This community was saddened by the sudden death of Miss Hannia Barkley, which occurred Thursday, January the eighth, at her home where she was born. She was 78 years old. She was living with and taking care of her blind sister, Miss Vantie Barkley, who is in her 82nd year. She was laid to rest the day following in the family burying ground in the presence of a goodly number of her relatives and friends.

Sleep on Miss Hannia, and take your rest. The Jesus comes to relieve the best. Thus say we all with shouts and songs Arise to meet that Heavenly throng. And hope that all who are resting there Will rise to meet the Lord up in the air. So shall we ever be with the Lord. According to His precious word. A Friend.

W. F. C. DEATH OF MRS. BRENNER. Mrs. Rebecca Keys Bromer, sister of Mr. Joel C. Keys of this city, died in Charleston Saturday after a long illness. She was 54 years old and was survived by her husband and eight children.

Williamston, S. C., Jan. 17.—Miss Margaret Manning of Spartanburg is the attractive guest of Mrs. Henry T. Creigler for this week.

GRAPHIC PICTURES. Today, Jan. 17.—A letter received here today from T. R. Hoyer, of the young men's Christian Association at Kagoshima, tells graphically the story of the eruption of Sakura-Jima and of the events that followed it.

The date, Jan. 12, says: "Sakura-Jima has been in violent eruption for thirteen hours. There was a severe earthquake at 6:17 o'clock this evening and in panic the people fled into the hills."

"Great damage was done by the shock. Stone walls are lying in the streets; chimneys have fallen, the roofs of the flimsy wooden structures the dikes lies in ruins and in every home furniture has been smashed and valuable vases and ornaments destroyed."

"The people who remain in the city are camping in the streets, the temple grounds and graveyards. The crater's roar keeps them awake. The first eruption occurred at 9 o'clock this morning and ashes were hurled high in the air. Schools were suspended and business came to a standstill."

"The eruption had left Sakura-Jima warned by the severe earth shocks. Hundreds of sampans brought the destitute across the bay to Kagoshima."

"From this city could be seen the appalling shower of rocks, some of them apparently as large as a house. By this evening it is probable that all the villages on the mountains have been turned."

"At the wharf here many pitiful scenes were witnessed. Women were weeping or crying for protection. Five thousand destitute persons are quartered in the schools and temples of Kagoshima. All the people have fled from the water front and are huddling in the city."

"Sakura-Jima which is twenty-six miles in circumference, probably was the most beautiful island in Japan, but now it will be a disgusting, ugly mass of pumice if it does not disappear altogether."

"As the foregoing sentence was written a deaf, collapsed directly in front of my desk. The air concentrations are terrific. It is impossible to tell how long the house will bear the shaking. The city floor is heaving and the walls are falling in places."

"Early this evening the skies above Kagoshima were fire-red and the large full moon was blood red. No painter could have pictured doom's day more vividly."

"It is awfully hard to be a satisfactory guest. Most people should cultivate the habit of remaining at home more."

"The more a man tells a woman to love her the more he will have to keep it up."

A SHOT GUN IS AN UNSAFE PLACE IN WHICH TO PUT MONEY

The other day the papers told of a man who had hidden his money in the barrel of a shot gun for safe keeping. A boarder, annoyed by the barking of a dog, put a shell in the gun and fired.

Since then the owner of the gun has been hunting for the dog, hoping to get back some of his money. If he had planted that money in real estate both his time and money would have been saved.

If you, Mr. Reader, will acquaint us with your desires, in either the purchase or sale of real estate, we will endeavor to serve you profitably.

Very respectfully yours,
